PLUNGE INTO LEARNING

Greetings, young philosophers! I'm Platopus, the wise platypus, waddling through ancient Greece on my way to Plato's Academy. Just as I gather mud and water to build my cozy burrow, you can gather books and curiosity to build your mind. Plunge into learning with enthusiasm and wonder!

MAKE A SPLASH

Ancient Greeks used water jugs called hydriai to tell stories through art. Draw your own scene on this hydria – perhaps a Greek hero, a mythical creature, or a moment from your own life. Let your imagination flow!

DID YOU KNOW? A meander or meandros is the name of a decorative border constructed from a continuous line, shaped into a repeated motif symbolizing infinity and the eternal flow of life.
